RESOLUTIONS OF THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL APPOINTING THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS TO REVISE AND PUBLISH THE CITY BY-LAWS.

Extract from the Minutes of the Council, 14th May, 1866.

Alderman HARMAN, seconded by Alderman VICKERS, moves :

"WHEREAS many years have elapsed since the Incorporation of the City, and numerous By-laws have been from time to time passed by the Corporation thereof, of which By-laws so passed, a considerable number have not been printed, and can only be referred to in manuscript, others have been passed to repeal or amend former By-laws, but by reason of all the By-laws not having been printed as aforesaid, it is difficult to trace such amendments or repeals ; others again have been passed, which, while neither distinctly repealing or amending have created inconsistencies in existing By-laws, and again there are other By-laws which having been passed for casual purposes are either in whole or in part no longer operative : AND WHEREAS it is manifestly desirable for these and other reasons to have the whole of the said By-laws of the City examined, revised, consolidated and printed, so that in future easy and convenient reference may be had to the same : BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that this Corporation hereby appoint the following parties, that is to say ; the learned CITY SOLICITOR, the CITY CLERK, and DEPUTY CLERK, together with Aldermen HARMAN, BOULTON, and EDWARDS, with Councilmen BELL, BOXALL, and DENISON, to be a Board of Commissioners to proceed with all due diligence to have the whole of the said By-laws carefully examined, and the same, after such examination, duly revised, consolidated, and printed in convenient form for reference, accompanied by a complete index and table of contents, with leave to the said Commissioners hereby appointed to employ clerical assistance if required, and also that the said Commissioners shall be furnished with necessary funds to defray the cost of carrying this resolution into effect :"—which was carried. .

Extract from the Minutes of the Council, 11th February, 1867.

Alderman HARMAN, seconded by Alderman BOULTON, moves :

"THAT the name of Alderman HARRISON be added to the Commission appointed last year, to revise and publish the City By-laws, in the place of Mr. EDWARDS, no longer a member of the Council :"—which was carried.

PREFACE.

To any one accustomed to consult the Statute Law of the Land, it is almost needless to allude to the difficulty experienced in arriving at a decision as to the real state of the law on any point which has been the subject of frequent legislation, and that when the research has to be made through well printed volumes, furnished with well classified indices. When, therefore, it is considered that from the date of the incorporation of the City in 1834, to the issue of the present volume, upwards of five hundred By-laws have been from time to time passed, which could only be, for the most part, referred to in manuscript volumes in which they were transcribed, but without any thing like an analytical index or digest of their contents, or to call attention to repeal or amendment, it will be admitted that the wording of the prefixed resolution under which this publication was undertaken, expressed, without exaggeration, its necessity.

Reference to the minutes of the Council shews that such a work was often contemplated, and resolutions in its furtherance frequently adopted, only to be abandoned, and it was not until the year 1860, that Mr. Justice WILSON, who then filled the office of Mayor, after expending much time and labour in going through these manuscript volumes and comparing and noting changes in the way of repeal or amendment, arranged a By-law (No. 334) which repealed a number of By-laws that were at that time obsolete, and partially amended others : to the value of this By-law, and the labour of the learned Judge, as preliminary to the present compilation, the Commissioners bear willing testimony.

The lapse of time, and the additional legislation since 1860, rendered it necessary that the Commissioners should again carefully review the entire series of civic enactments, which having been done, they had next to consider the best plan to be adopted to carry out the intention of the Council as embodied in their Resolution or Commission. To this end three courses presented themselves :—First, to print the By-laws as they then existed with notes pointing out amendment or repeal :—Secondly, to codify, or in other words to classify and re-arrange the whole body of legislation according to subjects :—or Thirdly, (being a modification of the first) to print the entire series, having first consolidated all the By-laws relating to the same subjects, and amended, where necessary, those relating to a single purpose.

The first course was soon discovered to be impracticable, for it was found that there were so many By-laws on the same subjects to which there had been continuous addition and amendment that many of their sections were clearly contradictory, while in others the intention of the Council was lost in the obscurity of frequent change, it was therefore considered that publication in such shape would still leave the By-laws in a condition difficult to interpret, if not calculated to mislead those who had to refer to them, and thus defeat the main object of easy and intelligible reference.

As to the second course, a Codification of the By-laws, the Commissioners, while fully impressed with the convenient and complete result of their labours that such a work would have exhibited, found that the difficulty of its preparation out of a mass of material, for the most part in manuscript, was well nigh insurmountable as a first effort, although it may readily follow at a future day from the shape in which they now leave the By-laws.

The Commissioners therefore, after much hesitation, decided to adopt the third expedient, and print the volume in its present shape.

Another reason which influenced the Commissioners in a great measure in deciding on this course, instead of codification, was the difficulty of getting over the numbering of the By-laws, particularly those relating to, and referred to by their numbers in the various issues of City Debentures, and the further consideration, that as this was to be the first publication of the laws of the City, whatever shape subsequent publications might assume, it was desirable that the first should exhibit and record the unbroken course of civic legislation by giving the series of both numbers and titles from the beginning, with the sole distinction of only printing at length the By-laws still in force.

The foregoing remarks being, as it were, preliminary, some further explanations respecting the contents of the present volume are deemed in place in presenting the same to the Council.

In the first place, the Commissioners considered it an appropriate introduction to furnish a schedule of the names of the Members of the Council and leading Civic Officials during the long series of years, the legislation of which has been under consideration, thus rendering it a matter of easy reference to ascertain, on the one hand, the names of the Members of Council at the time any By-law was passed, and to preserve, on the other, a record of useful and for the most part gratuitous service, rendered to the City by its civic representatives and officials, many of whom have long since passed away.

In the next place the Commissioners finding themselves frequently surrounded by ambiguity in the matter of both repeal or amendment from the subsequent repeal, it might be, of the amending or repealing enactment, or otherwise, to set the same finally at rest, followed the precedent of Mayor WILSON'S Act, already referred to, and can now confidently refer to By-laws numbers 484 and 505, in which a final and complete summary of every provision of the Council on those heads is embodied and set forth,—which "Amending and Repealing" By-laws being printed in full in the series, as the key or authority, the amendments are inserted in their places in the different By-laws where they occur, without further reference or comment.

The consolidation of the numerous By-laws referring to similar subjects, and the revision of others relating to a single purpose has been proceeded with with a careful endeavour to preserve, as far as possible, both the wording and the intention of the original framers of the enactments, and to amend only in those particulars that were necessary to bring them into accord with the existing Municipal Law, and the present and prospective requirements of the City. These "Consolidated" By-laws having been of necessity submitted to the Council for re-adoption were passed, the majority on the 26th of October, 1868, and the remainder on the 26th of November, 1869, by reference to which dates they may be readily referred to in the present volume. As bearing on these "Consolidated" By-laws, in the preparation of which was involved the heaviest labour of the Commissioners, it may not be out of place to refer to their first report to the Council, inserted in the minutes of the 26th July, 1868.

It was considered unadvisable to amend or in any way to interfere with those By-laws relating to the subjects over which the Commissioners of Police now exercise jurisdiction, their titles have therefore been merely printed.

Reference, it is felt, may be briefly made to two other series of By-laws now for the first time printed at large, namely, By-laws authorizing the leasing of lands belonging to the City, and By-laws authorizing the issue of Debentures.

With regard to the former no particular comment is necessary, and as perspicuity has been the main aim of the Commissioners, they have had prepared on a reduced scale and inserted at the commencement of the volume sundry Maps of the properties referred to, which will be found of use in reading these "Lease" By-laws.

With regard to the latter it was only deemed necessary to print those By-laws under which, from enquiries at the Chamberlain's office, it was ascertained that Debentures were still outstanding. These

"Debenture" By-laws afford an opportunity of noting, in the steady growth and development of the City, the unavoidable creation of what is known as the "City Debenture Debt."

A few other Maps having reference to other By-laws and prepared with a like object to that named above, will be also found at the commencement of the volume.

In addition to Marginal Notes inserted throughout the volume, the Index or Digest at the conclusion has, in compliance with the desire of the Council, been made as full and complete as possible. It is hoped that these united means of reference will accomplish in utility what they cost in labour.

Foreseeing the bulk the present extended publication would attain, it was considered advisable, while the type was standing, to publish simultaneously a smaller volume entitled "By-laws of Practical Utility and General Application," containing those By-laws (about thirty-two in number) which have to be more frequently referred to, and for the infraction of the provisions of which penalties may be incurred.

The Commissioners having availed themselves of the sanction of the Council to employ clerical assistance, record the valuable services rendered in that behalf by FRANK J. JOSEPH, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, whose knowledge of Municipal Law, and ability in its application to the work of the Commission, afforded no small assistance in the preparation of these volumes and their passage through the press.

It is not considered necessary to extend the length of these prefatory remarks by any lengthy apologies or excuses for the time occupied ; the Commissioners, on this head, merely quoting from their report of July, 1868, already referred to, wherein it was stated : "That from the very nature of the work entrusted to them, involving a patient and careful examination of between four hundred and five hundred By-laws, the result of civic legislation extending over more than a third of a century, and the difficulties they necessarily experienced, amid their other public and private avocations, in devoting continuous application thereto, the accomplishment of a work, the necessity and importance of which is universally admitted, has occupied more time than was at first anticipated."

In conclusion it is not presumed that the By-laws as now revised may not from time to time, as circumstances or experience may demand, require in many respects to be modified or amended ; but it is hoped, that apart from the convenience the citizens will derive from having the laws of the City printed in a complete and convenient form, the By-laws as they now exist will aid more effectually to carry out the practical working of the various departments of the Corporation and materially conduce to the welfare and good government of the City.

No. 323.

By-law to provide for the construction of a Sewer on Cruikshank Street, and other Improvements.

PASSED 6TH AUGUST, 1860.

WHEREAS Oliver Mowat has petitioned for a sewer on Cruikshank Street, between Dalhousie and Mutual Streets, in St. James's Ward :

And whereas upon the petition of the owners of real property on Gerrard Street, in the same Ward, a By-law numbered two hundred and ninety was passed to provide for the construction of a sewer in the said street, and authorizing the raising for that purpose the sum of two thousand five hundred and eighty-two dollars and fifty cents, and levying of a special rate of ten cents and two-tenths of a cent per lineal foot frontage on the property therein described :

No. 323.
Sewer on Cruikshank Street.

And whereas upon the petition of the owners of real property on Mutual Street, in the same Ward, a By-law numbered two hundred and ninety-seven was passed to provide for the construction of a sewer on the said street authorizing the raising for that purpose the sum of three thousand two hundred and fifty-seven dollars, and the levying of a special rate of ten cents and six-tenths of a cent per lineal foot frontage on the property therein described:

And whereas it has been ascertained that in order to obtain a sufficient outfall for the sewers on that part of Mutual Street north of Cruikshank Street, and on Gerrard Street, and also on Cruikshank Street, it is necessary to connect them with the main sewer on Jarvis Street at the point where the said sewer intersects the creek north of Shuter Street:

And whereas it has been ascertained that the whole cost of constructing the said sewers with their necessary outfalls will be twelve thousand four hundred and one dollars, one-third whereof must under the Statute in that behalf be provided by By-law for borrowing money, and two-thirds thereof, eight thousand two hundred and sixty-seven dollars and thirty-four cents reduced by the sums of two thousand five hundred and eighty-two dollars and fifty cents, and three thousand two hundred and fifty-seven dollars, authorized to be raised by the By-laws therein recited, to the sum of two thousand four hundred and twenty-seven dollars and eighty-four cents, which is the amount of the debt to be created by this By-law, that is to say, one thousand one hundred and sixty-eight dollars and four cents in respect of the sewer on Gerrard Street, in addition to the said sum of two thousand five hundred and eighty-two dollars and fifty cents, and the sum of nine hundred and eighteen dollars in respect of the Mutual Street sewer in addition to the said sum of three thousand two hundred and fifty-seven dollars, and the remainder, three hundred and forty-one dollars and eighty cents, in respect of the Cruikshank Street sewer:

And whereas the portion of the sewer on Mutual Street south of Cruikshank Street, and which has cost nine hundred and eighty-two dollars and fifty-four cents, will not use the outfall herein provided for:

And whereas the above recited By-law, number two hundred and ninety-seven, levies a rate of ten cents and six-tenths of a cent per lineal foot on each foot of frontage on Mutual Street, which is sufficient to defray the cost of the before mentioned portion of the sewer south of Cruikshank Street, upon which the frontage liable to such assessment is one thousand and twenty feet:

And whereas the remaining frontage liable to assessment on Mutual Street over and above the said one thousand and twenty feet is two thousand three hundred and forty feet, more or less:

And whereas the frontage on Cruikshank Street liable to assessment is two hundred and fifty-two feet, more or less:

And whereas the frontage on Gerrard Street liable to assessment as set forth in By-law number two hundred and ninety is two thousand seven hundred and seventy-two feet, more or less:

And whereas the whole number of feet to be assessed under this By-law on Gerrard Street, Mutual Street, and Cruikshank Street is five thousand three hundred and sixty-four feet, more or less:

And whereas the assessment of ten cents and six-tenths of a cent per lineal foot of the frontage of one thousand and twenty feet in that part of Mutual Street south of Cruikshank Street, will produce the annual sum of one hundred and eight dollars and twelve cents:

And whereas the whole sum to be annually raised for the purposes of this and the above recited Acts on the said sum of eight thousand two hundred and sixty-seven dollars and thirty-four cents is nine hundred and nine dollars and forty cents:

And whereas an annual assessment of fourteen cents and ninety-two hundredths of a cent per lineal foot on the whole frontage to be assessed by this Act will produce the said sum of eight hundred dollars and thirty cents:

And whereas of the said eight hundred dollars and thirty cents the yearly sum of five hundred and eleven dollars and ninety-one cents is also in addition to the said one hundred and eight dollars and twelve cents, raised under the said recited By-laws on the said respective sums of two thousand five hundred and eighty-two dollars and fifty cents, and three thousand two hundred and fifty-seven dollars, leaving the additional amount now to be raised by special rate upon the aforesaid sum of two thousand four hundred and twenty-seven dollars and eighty-four cents:

And whereas it has been ascertained and determined that the real property comprised within the following limits, that is to say: 1. And whereas a special rate on the frontage upon Gerard Street, of four cents and seventy-two hundredths of a cent per lineal foot, in addition to that levied by By-law number two hundred and ninety-seven, will produce the annual sum of one hundred and thirty dollars:
